Unusual and Striking Gowns Are Seen This Spring

It is possible to overdo anything, even some movement which of itself is meritorious.

Without question there is a great scarcity of certain fabrics, noticeably woollen and linen, and it is our undeniable duty to add our quota to their conservation.

But when we countenance skirts that arbitrarily confine us to the "hobble" gait or allow two different kinds of wool to be joined together in an entirely unsuitable combination it really not our good sense that is dictating the manner of conservation.

In the first place, if there is a short age of wool, why insist upon having but it is necessary. our clothes made of wool, especially now that spring is coming and bringing in its wake so many excellent sub-

Inconsistency is said to be a feminine failing, and it must be confessed that when milady eschews a suit of wool and then goes to work and pro vides herself with a frock and long coat of the same material one fears that the inconsistency charge is true

More attractive than ever are the new silks and satins that are heralding the springtime days. And there is no good reason why we should not make use of them to our hearts' con-

Crepes, voiles, satins and silks all may be ours at the asking-and at a moderate price! And very attractive are they when fashioned along simple but effective lines that Dame Fashion dictates. Very unusual and rather striking is the afternoon gown of navy blue taf-

> Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever.
